Who's news?

Prize winners, pioneers, and paragons (plus one rather less admirable exception) who have featured in the news over recent months. There are two points for correctly naming the person. If you can't come up with a name, there is one point for giving an idea of the reason for their newsworthiness. That's a consolation point, not a bonus point. The most you can score is two points per picture, by providing the correct name.
